FAMILY GROUP RECORD

Cap. Willie's Company

But there were several companies, my dear—seven, in all, I think, totalling more than two thousand men, women and children.

The first of the hand-cart companies to arrive in Utah were two led by Edmund Ellsworth and Daniel D. McArthur. They left Iowa City, one on the 9th, and the other on the 11th, of June; the former with 226 persons, the latter with 229. They had nearly a hundred hand-carts, with a few ox and mule wagons. Men, women, and children walked most of the way, wading rivers, crossing deserts, and climbing mountains, a distance of [illegible] hundred miles. A few deaths occurred among the aged and sickly, but the great body arrived safe and in good condition. The date of arrival at Salt Lake City was September 26th. 1856

A third company, under Captain Edward Bunker, came in on October 2nd.

Two other companies, traveling in like manner, were still on the plains. One of these was commanded by James G. Willie and the other by Edward Martin. Captain Willie left Iowa City on July 15th, and Florence (old Winter Quarters) on August 13th. Captain Martin was about two weeks behind.

The early approach of cold weather in Utah awoke fears for the safety of the immigrants, and forthwith relief parties were organized and sent out to meet them. Scores of brave men, taking wagon loads of clothing, bedding and provisions, went forth to rescue their unfortunate fellows, struggling through deep snows and piercing winds along the Platte and the Sweetwater. Among those who went out to meet the immigrants were several returned missionaries, just home from Europe. Traveling west they, with others, had overtaken and passed the delayed companies, and upon arriving at Salt Lake City had reported their condition, and then returned to succor them. This was all in 1856.

In 1860—arriving on August 27th and September 24th respectively, Robinson's company and Stoddard's company completed the list.

Out of Willie's [illegible], sixty [illegible] en route. Martin was the less fortunate and out of his 650, about 150 were lost on the way. I find no report of Indian troubles at this time, but suffering from exposure, hardship, etc., etc., was great.

All seven companies took practically the same route—starting from Iowa City, and passing the following points: Florence, Nebraska; North Platte, Nebraska; Fort Laramie, Wyoming; Green River, Wyoming; Echo Canyon, Weber Canyon, East Canyon Creek, Emigration Canyon, thence into Salt Lake Valley.

I suggest that you purchase a copy of Whitney's History of Utah, and read it right through, Mrs. Mormon.

I thank you.

MRS. ELIZABETH HICKEN

FUNERAL SERVICES

Funeral services in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Hicken, whose death we announced last week, were held in the Wasatch Stake Tabernacle Sunday afternoon, with Bishop Walter Montgomery in charge. There was a splendid attendance and many beautiful floral offerings.

A doubl emixed quartette, composed of the Brierly Brothers, Frank Hardy, Vincent Giles, Mrs. Delmar Dickson, Orah Giles, Mina Nilsson and Mrs. F. W. Hardy, accompanied by Miss Edith Wootton sang, "Come, Come Ye Saints The opening prayer was offered by President H. Clay Cummings.

Former Bishop, Joseph A. Rasband said he had a vivid recollection of Mrs. Hicken as a leader in the community, when he was a boy, and how he had been impressed with her neatness and dignity. She did not lecture to her family, but what she said had a lasting effect, for she had a great influence for good over her family and associates. Speaker referred to the great work Mrs. Hicken has done in the temple during the past ten years; truly a work in the interest of others.

Bishop Frederick Crook gave a brief history of the life of Mrs. Hicken and her life had been faith-promoting throughout, for both she and her family have been staunch and faithful in their duties and always desirous of doing their part. Speaker told of how the earlier members of the family had crossed the ocean and the plains for the gospel's sake, and how they had tkaen a very important part in building up this community, being always honest, industrious and God-fearing in their lives.

The mixed quartette sang, "Tho' Deep'ning Trials Throng Your Way."

Counselor in the ward Bishopric, Ralph F. Giles, said he had learned to love and respect Mrs. Hicken for her true worth; as an angel of mercy in times of distress, though her visits, when not in times of trouble were also inspirational. Her friends were many among both young and old. Speaker said he had been employed by the Hicken family as a boy and had learned to love and esteem them and was sure that Mrs. Hicken had earned and would receive a great reward. She lived in a way that no evil could be spoken of her and it was not attempted. She died in full faith of a glorious future resurrection to be followed by eternal progression; our greatest joy.

The Martin Brothers of Salt Lake, (relatives) sang, "Come Unto Me," being accompanied by Mrs. Chase Moulton.

Bishop Montgomery spoke of service to fellowmen as the greatest of service and said such had been her life, and the life of her family, some of whom have carried the gospel to the isles of the seas as well as to the peoples of America. Speaker expressed appreciation in behalf of the family for kindnesses and assistance rendered.

As closing numbers the Martin Bros. rendered a vocal duet and the benediction was pronounced by Supt. R. F. Nilsson. The grave was dedicated by Frederick W. Giles.

On account of pressing duties in school at Berkeley, California, Mr. Wm T. Hicken left on his return there following the funeral services of his mother, Sunday evening.
